

A. Application:

This model is suitable for middle school elementary school and the universities and technical institutes colleges and universities biology teaching the flower structure and type makes the audio-visual aids.

B. Contents:

Brassica napus, model enlarged approx. 10 times. The model shows the typical structure of the flower of cruciferous plants. The pistil can be taken out. The ovary is cut longitudinally. The section has been made vertically towards the false septum of the husk. Thus the numerous seed cones become visible. The four nectar glands are seated at the receptacle between the petals. Model separates into 2 parts, on a stand with base .

C. Dimension: 20×20×20 cm

D. Maintenance:

- a. Avoid strong light and strong hit to avoid damage.
- b. Put on the plastic cover after using.
- c. Clean the model with water instead of chemical solvent.